

Leone Cavicchia

General Board Member

Leone Cavicchia was born in Rome, Italy.

At present he is a PhD candidate in Science and Management of Climate Change, a joint doctoral program of Euro-Mediterranean Centre For Climate Change (CMCC) in Bologna and Venice University. Before, he studied theoretical physics in Rome University and Scuola Normale Superiore in Pisa.

Leone is a member of the Italian Doctoral candidates and young researchers association (ADI) since 2009. He has been involved in ADI both on international issues and coordinating the activities of the local branch in Bologna.

Leone likes to spend his free time travelling to distant places and exploring different cultures.